

St. Clement I—Pope/Martyr (Died c. 100 A.D.)
November 23

St. Pope Clement I was one of the early bishops of Rome and played a pivotal role in the early Christian Church. His epistle to the Corinthians, written around 96 AD, is considered one of the most important documents of the early Church, as it outlined the roles and authority of bishops and presbyters in the Christian community. This document was written to address divisions in the Corinthian Church and assert the importance of maintaining unity and order within the Christian community. Clement's leadership in Rome helped to solidify the role of the papacy as the central authority within the Christian faith.

According to early Christian sources, St. Clement was a direct disciple of St. Peter and had been appointed by the apostle to lead the Christian community in Rome. His papacy is significant for its emphasis on preserving the teachings of the apostles and ensuring the stability of the early Church. Despite the trials and persecutions faced by Christians in the Roman Empire, St. Clement remained steadfast in his role as the spiritual leader of the Christian faithful.

Traditionally, St. Clement's martyrdom is described as occurring during the reign of Emperor Trajan. He was exiled to the remote region of Chersonesus (modern Crimea), where he continued to minister to the faithful despite his harsh conditions. It is said that he performed a miracle, striking the ground with his pickaxe to reveal a stream of water, which helped convert many of his fellow prisoners and others in the region to Christianity. However, his final martyrdom came when he was drowned by being tied to an anchor and thrown into the sea.

Over the centuries, St. Clement's relics have been venerated in various locations, most notably in the Basilica di San Clemente in Rome, which stands as a testament to his enduring legacy in the Christian faith. His feast day, celebrated on November 23, serves as a reminder of the early struggles of the Church and the importance of unity and leadership in maintaining the faith.

Archbishop's Annual Appeal 2026

Sunday, November 22

In today's Gospel, Jesus reminds us that our love for God is shown through the way we care for one another. When we welcome the stranger, serve those in need, and offer compassion to others, we are serving Christ Himself.

The prophet Ezekiel shares the image of God as a loving shepherd who seeks out, gathers, and cares for His people. We are called to reflect that same care and compassion in our own lives. Through our prayers, actions, and generosity, we help bring God's love to those around us.

The Archbishop's Appeal is one way we can respond to this call, supporting ministries that serve the vulnerable, strengthen our communities of faith, and share the hope of Christ with others. Thank you for the many ways you help care for God's people and build His Kingdom.
